

British Computer Society Leicester Branch

Current Postgraduate Research in Leicester

This event will consist of a series of short talks by PhD students studying at De Montfort University and the University of Leicester

Inferencing with real world uncertainties in real time

Simon Coupland

Centre for Computational Intelligence, De Montfort University

Representing XML documents compactly

Richard Geary

Department of Computer Science, University of Leicester

Automatic code generation for embedded systems using design patterns

Chisanga Mwelwa

Embedded Systems Laboratory, University of Leicester

A compositional framework for webservice specification

Monika Solanki

Software Technology Research Laboratory, De Montfort University

Thursday 11th March 2004

Presentations begin at 7.00 pm

Free buffet from 6.30 pm

Non-members welcome

The Charles Wilson Building, The University of Leicester

(Please use Entrance 2 and park in front of the Students' Union)

For directions, please visit: <http://www.le.ac.uk/maps/maps.html>

For presentation abstracts, please visit our WWW page :

<http://www.bcs.org/branches/leicester>

For further information, please contact: Dr. Michael Pont (M.Pont@le.ac.uk; 0116 252 5052)