Explanation of Prerequisites All Computing with Management students will have a common core of knowledge on which to build in the third year.

Module Description The purpose of the Computing with Management Project is for the student to combine knowledge and skills acquired in level one and two Computer Science and Management modules in the production of a suitable project. Project work consists of independent private study, guided by regular short meetings with a member of staff who will advise the student on how to proceed with the year's work. Ten credits of work will take place in semester one, and the remaining twenty credits in semester two. Students may choose a project title and subject area from a large list of project descriptions, or they may suggest a project of their own for possible approval. The project has a number of goals which the student must achieve, but the key ones are the writing of a dissertation summarising the year's work, and the development of a practical computer system.

Convenor's Notes The assessment is broken down as follows:

1. 10%: Interim report and Prototype demo.
2. 5%: Interview with the second marker
3. 10%: Viva and demonstration of software.
4. 70%: Software product and Final project report.
5. 5%: Mark for student effort and participation, based on a weekly diary.
